Near the French School in Budaliget, a furnished family home awaits its next tenants. Books in the living room, wide glazing and doors opening towards the garden create a personal, welcoming atmosphere. The reddish-toned kitchen adds character to the shared space, where cooking and time together can connect naturally.

Five bedrooms across three floors offer a variety of possibilities for a larger family. Separate rooms can accommodate study, work and guests, while the living room remains the centre of shared evenings. Furnished interiors allow the move to begin within an already established home environment.

Large terraces and the 720 m² garden also make room for outdoor living. An afternoon rest among the lawn and evergreens, breakfast together on the terrace or an evening conversation can become part of the regular routine. A double garage provides space for the family cars.

Budaliget's leafy streets and local educational options can provide a particularly convenient backdrop for families with children. Alongside the nearby French School, other schools in Pesthidegkút and connections at Hűvösvölgy contribute to the location. Beyond spacious interiors and a garden, this house offers a personal atmosphere that is easy to settle into.
