In leafy Máriaremete, this stepped villa arranges life around the view. The panoramic living room and island kitchen create a spacious communal setting where cooking, conversation and entertaining can flow naturally together. Alongside contemporary lines, distinctive interior details make the overall impression personal.

Five bedrooms and five bathrooms offer considerable independence to family members and guests. A walk-in wardrobe supports an organised routine, while a lift connects the four levels. The villa's generous layout is therefore evident in private living as well as shared spaces.

The rooftop hot tub provides a separate setting to unwind in the evening, while the pool and sauna offer further ways to relax at home. With a 951 m² plot and varied outdoor spaces, a summer day can follow several rhythms: time together in the garden, a retreat on the terrace or refreshment beside the water.

Built in 2022, the house includes a three-car garage. Máriaremete's quiet street, nearby schools and connections at Hűvösvölgy provide the backdrop to family life. The villa's value lies in the combination of views, independent personal spaces and rooms devoted to relaxation.
