In a quiet Budaliget street, this modern villa is generous with space. The open island kitchen and living room allow family life and entertaining to meet in one setting. Timber-toned flooring brings warmth to the clean-lined interior, while large windows direct attention towards the garden and views.

Five bedrooms and four bathrooms also provide ample private accommodation. Rest, work and guests can all find their place among the separate rooms. The bathroom with its large window and bath offers a calm way to end the day, while rooms awaiting furniture leave room for the new owner's taste.

The garden on the 1480 m² plot and outdoor pool can become important settings for summer at home. Relaxing beside the pool, eating together outside and spending time in the garden all belong to the same generous, independent world. The modern facade continues the restrained lines of the interior.

Built in 2024, the house has a six-car garage, providing unusually extensive parking. Local schools, including the French School, and connections at Hűvösvölgy support family weekdays. The villa offers a comfortable backdrop to a life that needs plenty of space, together with a garden and private places to relax.
