In Budaliget, a double-height living room with a gallery forms the centre of a spacious yet personal home. Large timber bookcases and a timber kitchen create warmth, while panoramic views add particular value to the position. A family evening or a larger gathering finds a natural place in the shared space.

Six bedrooms offer independent accommodation to family members and guests. Timber floors and built-in storage provide a practical, welcoming backdrop, with separate rooms also allowing space for work and study. Connected to the living room, the gallery offers another perspective on the house's generous proportions.

A fitness room and sauna add to the opportunities for relaxing at home. An indoor pool area is another distinctive feature; the pool is shown covered in the photographs. The 2517 m² garden, with trees and hedges, provides ample room for outdoor life, from quieter relaxation to shared activities.

The large garage accommodates several cars. With Budaliget's green surroundings and connections at Hűvösvölgy, this rental house supports family life that needs more space. The book-lined living room, garden and rooms devoted to relaxation together create a home in which different routines can coexist.
